ANNOUNCEMENTS

IUSSP International Population Conference

The 28th International Population Conference of the International Union for the Scientific Study of Population (IUSSP) will be held in Cape Town, South Africa at the Cape Town International Conference Centre (CTICC) from 29 October to 4 November 2017.

The IUSSP International Population Conference is a major international event drawing over 2,000 scientists, policy makers and practitioners in the global population community to meet and address issues of common concern. The Conference takes place once every four years, providing a unique forum for population experts to take stock of recent research on population trends and issues and to debate possible actions and policy responses to the challenges posed by population phenomena.

The Conference will include invited plenary debates and panel discussions on population and sustainable development issues as well as over 240 scientific sessions featuring the results of recent research from around the globe. Sessions will cover a wide range of topics including international migration, sexual and reproductive health, poverty and inequality, population and environment interactions, the consequences of population ageing and issues related to children and youth, education, the labour force, and gender and human rights. Attention to advances in methods and data measuring population phenomena and evaluating progress towards health and development goals such as the SDGs will be a key concern cutting across all sessions. In addition, there will be exhibits, side meetings and training sessions. Presentations in scientific sessions, oral and poster, will be selected through a peer-review submission process. All researchers and population specialists are warmly invited to submit a paper or poster proposal and to plan on attending this event.

IIHMR, Bangalore in collaboration with IIM, Ahmedabad is organizing an International Conference to improve overall healthcare delivery system in primary, secondary and tertiary level. While IIHMR has been consistently ranked number one in Healthcare education, research & management, IIM – Ahmedabad is well renowned in the field of management education. The Economist has ranked IIM-A at 56 among the top 100 international B schools in the world that offer full time Management Programs & Research.

IIM-A's involvement in the health sector started with the establishment of the Public Systems Group in 1975. Centre for Management of Health Services (CMHS) was setup in June 2004. The over all objectives of CMHS are to address the managerial challenges in the delivery of health services. Continuing the legacy of bringing in innovative practices in healthcare this year we are planning to conduct the International Conference: ADWITYA 2016 in association with IIM –

NEW BOOK

Valued Daughters : First Generation Career Women by Dr Alice W Clark : SAGE, New Delhi, 2016

This book studies the transition of agency and self-identity in young women aspiring for a career. Valued Daughters traces the spread of ambition for lifetime careers among young women in urban India, who are effecting many changes by stepping out of their traditional roles to pursue higher education and jobs. It analyses intersecting transitions—demographic, educational, economic, social, and cultural, with their individual histories and trajectories—that form the context of this study. Using first-hand narratives of women and their families, this book illustrates a new and changing sense of self among these daughters, whose mothers never had careers of their own. Focusing on the way these young career-oriented women engage with immediate society and the world at large, this book explores how they view traditional roles and how they are, in turn, viewed by the society.

OBITUARY

Dr. Kottai S. Gnanasekaran (1936 -2016)

Dr.K. S. Gnanasekaran born in Tamil Nadu India passed away on January 27, 2016 in Scarsdale, New York at the age of 80 after a few years of illness. He was staying in New York with his family after retiring from the Statistical Division of the United Nations.

Soon after completing a Master’s degree in Economics, Gnanasekaran (Gnana) got a Govt. of India scholarship to pursue studies in demography at the UN sponsored Demographic Training and Research Centre Bombay (which became International Institute for Population Sciences, a Deemed University) in 1957. He was the youngest in the class and belonged to the Center’s first batch of students and obtained a post - graduate Diploma in Demography in 1959. As a soft spoken person with mild temperament, he was one of the most liked of his group during his study period. He then enrolled for a Ph. D. program at the University of Bombay and was awarded Ph. D. in Economics in 1962. An impressive professional career followed the PhD studies with a post-doctoral research fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania in 1964-1965 to work as Research Associate in economics and demography.

At the completion of the fellowship program in Pennsylvania, Gnana was appointed Economist/Statistician at the Dominion Bureau of Statistics (Statistics Canada) in 1967 and worked there mostly in the field of population projections. From 1973-1978 he was Chief of Population Projections Section in the Population Estimates and Projections Division with Dr. Anatole Romaniuc as Director, which became Demography Division as a result of a reorganization. Gnana's time with Statistics Canada was perhaps the most productive time of his life focusing on population projections in collaboration with Anatole Romaniuc. In addition to producing the first set of official population projections for Canada and the Provinces using a projection model for the period 1972-2003, considerable developmental and analytical research was carried out by the Population Projections staff under Gnana's guidance. The culmination of this work was the publication entitled, Technical Report on Population Projections for Canada, and the Provinces, 1972-2001, 1975. Recalling Dr. Gnanasekaran's team work, his supervisor fondly remembers him for his creative mind and human qualities, a reliable and trustful colleague and friend. Gnana thus exemplified Demography Division's cosmopolitan character by its origin yet highly harmonious team.

He was very dedicated to his profession and never turned down any new opportunity to make contributions in his field. This can be seen from a contract type project which was undertaken with his colleague Dr. M.V. George for developing population and labour force projections for Alberta, as requested by the Human Resources Research Council (HRRC), Edmonton. The report prepared entitled, Population and Labour Force Projections for Alberta, 1970- 1985 by M.V. George and K.S. Gnanasekaran was published by the HRRC in 1972.

While working in Statistics Canada Gnana was seconded to the United Nations to work as UN Expert/Lecturer at the faculty of Cairo Demographic Center, Egypt, 1971-72 for teaching and research in demography. When he returned from this UN assignment from Cairo he took interest to work for the UN on a permanent basis. His effort in this respect became successful In 1979 when he was appointed to join the United Nations as Chief, Demographic Statistics Section of the Statistical Division, New York. He worked mainly on migration statistics and censuses. He participated and organized several Expert Committee Meetings and Seminars in these fields as part of his work. Gnana continued his work with the United Nations, New York until he retired. After retiring from the United Nations he was an Honorary Advisor for the International Longevity Center at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York.

Dr. Gnanasekaran was a founder member of CPS, a member of IUSSP, PAA and Indian Association for the Study of Population and IASSH. He had an impressive list of research reports and publications and conference papers to his credit. Gnanasekaran had a brilliant career in demography but he was always an unassuming humble and reliable person with a warm heart and was much liked by his colleagues and friends. We will be missing him much. May his soul rest in peace!

M. V. George, Atlanta, USA

Anatole Romaniuc, Ottawa, Canada
