BOOKS PUBLISHED

C. Shanthi Johnson and S. Irudaya Rajan (Eds):
 Ageing and Health in India, Rawat Publications, Jaipur,
 2010, 248 pages Rs.695, ISBN 81-316-0281-8

Prolongation of life span does not imply that the extra years bring about continued health and prosperity. Ageing, marked by these trends, is said to put an increased burden on the social, economic and health care demands in all countries including India. This book seeks to inform the public on a variety of topics related to ageing, with the ultimate aim of promoting good health for elderly people.

About the Book:

Mass displacement of Population due to ethnic conflict is a very recurrent phenomenon in the State of Assam, India. As the displaced people remain inside the Indian territory, they become internally displaced persons (IDPS).

By taking BORO tribal IDPs, this research divulges the real saga of the IDPs who are languished in the makeshift relief camps in abject poverty.

Fellowships/Learning Resources

• Centre for Asian Health Research and Evaluation (CAHRE), New Zealand:

The Centre for Asian Health Research and Evaluation (CAHRE) is a research centre that conducts research into the health and wellbeing of Asian and other immigrants. It was established in 2004. CAHRE has a vision for international collaboration with individual researchers and organizations from Asian and other countries. It focuses on effecting positive change to the health and wellbeing of Asian New Zealanders.

CAHRE is also involved in undergraduate and postgraduate teaching on a wide range of topics. They include cross-cultural communication; cultural models of health; health promotion amongst the diverse Asian population, and cross-cultural research methods. Furthermore, CAHRE has hosted workforce training workshops to address a variety of topics such as: cultural competence training; working cross-culturally with Asian people in mental health settings, and many more.

CAHRE's research programme concentrates on issues with mental health, lifestyle – concerns such as obesity and diabetes, service accessibility, settlement and integration, and sector development. To see the research projects completed by CAHRE please visit, www.fmhs.auckland.ac.nz/soph/centres/cahre/projects.aspx

In 2004, CAHRE hosted the Inaugural International Asian Health and Wellbeing Conference which brought together medical and social services, and cultural experts to exchange information on how to respond to the diverse needs of Asian communities in New Zealand the Asia Pacific. This was followed by three more highly successful International Asian Health and Wellbeing Conferences in 2006, 2008, and 2010, which were attended by national and international speakers and delegates. These conferences will continue to be held biennially.
